CE marking

To be awarded the standard CE mark, normally fire extinguishers need to be 95% red. However the governing authorities view the Contempo line as an exception with them only being a different colour for cosmetics purposes. They are therefore given the CE marking.

The perfect fire extinguisher for modern bars, restaurants and luxury hotels. The ideal range for any opulent location.

Corrosion-resistant finish

These extinguishers feature a corrosion-resistant finish which protected them from the environment. This helps them in being able to be stored outside if needed.
